

Our School Production- Aesop's Fables

The Maharishi School Production of Aesop's Fables on Stage presents a colourful and entertaining medley of messages, for young and old alike, about life and living.

Opening in a bustling village square, we first discover a little about this famous author of fables- Aesop.

Then in the story of "The Wind and the Sun", while we watch the egotistical and blustering wind boasting to all the other 'weathers' of her prowess, we learn about the best ways to positively influence others.

The following fable, "The Miller, His Son and the Donkey", with its sometimes outlandish but style-focused donkey, we are reminded to listen to and trust ourselves.

In "The Goatherd and the Wild Goats", with our youngest "kids" on stage, we remember what it means to be a true friend.

And in the popular old fable "The Hare and the Tortoise", we see an enthusiastic bunch of woodland creatures witness the wisdom of a balanced approach to life.

These Stories of yesteryear culminate in a rousing musical finale, performed by our multi-talented students!
